

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

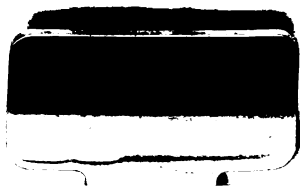

About Google Book Search

A genealogical history, when accurately collated, is or should be, of almost equal interest and value as the history of their own nation to all families when the record and genealogy has personal relation to them, or their adopted country. Ignorance of, or indifference to, the history of our ancestors, is by no means commendable. Knowledge of their virtues should incite us to emulate them, and if unhappily we discover errors, wisely avoid them. It should lead us to veneration for their memories, and thereby lead us to veneration for whatever is just and excellent. It should lead us to closer observation and scrutiny of individual character, and thereby to a better knowledge of human nature; and thereby extends the area and domain of practical knowledge. By studying with a family interest, with a deepened interest, the character and deeds of our ancestors, we come by a sort of companionship to know ourselves better, and thereby extend and deepen our knowledge of our individual selves. The Greeks had a practical and profound axiom, "Know thyself." By knowing more intimately by historic association, and by genealogical communion, those from whom we derived our existence through successive generations, we come nearer and better to a practical application to ourselves of this profound and excellent Greek proverb.

But the many difficulties environing the genealogical explorer are at all times discouraging, yet this patient "labor of love" brings the reward of pleasure to others, the reward of personal delight, and the happy satisfaction of a duty performed to the memory of others beyond the shining shore.

The family of White, in former times, many of them were extensive land owners, and generally were successful agriculturists. In summing up the general characteristics of this somewhat numerous family, it may be said that they abstained from the allurements of the vices of the day in which they lived, and with sincerity practiced the virtues of the genuine type of New England character.

GENEALOGY.

William White, who came over in the Mayflower, in 1620, must be our English ancestor, from which we believe have descended nearly all the Whites in America. He had three sons, not counting Peregrine, who was born in Cape Cod Harbor. The name of William White is the sixth in order subscribed to the compact. He died in 1621, but his age is not mentioned. His wife, Susannah, married Gov. Edward Winslow, in May, 1621. His oldest son, Resolve, married Judith, daughter of William Bassett, in Scituate, R. I., in 1640. Their children were: William, born April 10, 1642; John, born March 11, 1644; Samuel, born March 13, 1646; Resolve, born Nov. 12, 1647; Anna, born June 4, 1649; Elizabeth, born June 4, 1652; Josiah, born Sept. 29, 1654. Further information is desirable respecting this family. Judge Mitchell observes that Resolve White continued in Marshfield, Mass., until 1670, at which time he appears to have emigrated to some other part of New England. His wife died about this time, as appears from the Marshfield records. The last notice of him we have seen on record is found in Gov. Josiah Winslow's will, dated in 1675, where he is named as brother with a bequest. Peregrine White received his name from the circumstance of his birth on board of the Mayflower, in Cape Cod harbor, the latter part of November, 1620, the first child born of English parents in New England. He moved to Marshfield with the family of Gov. Edward Winslow, probably about the year 1636. He married Sarah, the daughter of William Bassett, who then lived in Danbury, but afterwards moved to Bridgewater, and died in 1667. His children were Daniel, Sylvanus, Jonathan, Peregrine, Sarah, Mercy. Peregrine died July 20, 1704, aged 83 years and 8 months. His wife died in 1711.

The Boston News Letter, of July 31, 1704, contains the following intelligence :

MARSHFIELD, July 22, 1704.

Capt. Peregrine White, of this town, aged 83 years and 8 months, died July 20, 1704.

He was vigorous, and of comely aspect till the last, in Oct. 1665, as appears in the Old Colony Records. The court granted him two hundred acres of land in compliance of a request of the King's Commissioners desiring that the courts would accommodate him with a portion of land in respect that he was the first of the English that was born in those parts. He was admitted a member of Rev. Mr. Thompson's church, in 1689, in his 78th year, on which occasion a sermon was delivered from the text, Mathew 20 : 6, 7. The following remarks are from an obliging correspondent of Marshfield : " Peregrine White, according to some accounts, was rather a volatile in his early life, but I find an entry on the town records somewhat contradicting this statement, which is as follows : Nov. 16, 1651, Voted, at town meeting, that Peregrine White look to all such persons as are disorderly in the township, give them warning, and in case they do not redress their course of life, he shall use means to redress such abuses as he finds in such persons. The same year he was chosen one of the raters, the same in 1655 and 1656, in 1659 Deputy to the General Court, in 1660 chosen a grand jurymen ; in 1664, Selectman ; in 1672 and 1673, Selectman ; in 1673 he was chosen one of the council of war, and was then styled Capt. White from undisputed tradition. He was very reverential to his mother, making it his practice, towards the close of her life, to visit her daily. He rode on horseback, the color of his horse was black, and the buttons on his coat were the size of a Spanish dollar.

Daniel White, the son of Peregrine, married Hannah Hunt of Duxbery, in 1694. Their children were John, born 1675 ; Joseph, born 1678 ; Thomas, born 1680, died in Boston, 1772 ; Cornelius, born 1682 ; Benjamin, born 1684 ; Elaror, born 1686 ; Ebenezer, born 1691. Gideon was the great grandson of Peregrine White, and was the son of Cornelius White, who married Hannah Barstow, and was born July 13, 1718. He married Joanna Howland, 1743, and moved to Plymouth, and died March 3, 1769, aged 62 years. His wife, Joanna, was great grand-daughter of John Howland, who arrived in the Mayflower. She died Sept. 23, 1710 aged 95 years. She was intimately acquainted in the family of Elder Fance, and from him we receive interesting particulars in relation to the Pilgrims, which she was accustomed to relate with much satisfaction to herself and friends. Their children were Cornelius, died 1779 ; Joanna, who married Pelham Winslow, died May 2, 1729 aged 85 years. Hannah and Mary both died unmarried. Hannah died Jan. 3, 1743; Mary, Nov. 28, 1738, aged 87 years. Hamilton L. Earl was an officer in the British service, and died at Gibraltar, at the residence of his son-in-law, Col. Davenport, in 1742. Gideon White, their second son, removed to Shelburn, Nova Scotia, during the Revolution, and died there in 1829, leaving numerous descendants at that place, one daughter in Plymouth, Mrs. Joan Davis, the widow of Capt. William Davis.

APPENDIX.

IN PILGRIMS' HALL.

Among the antiquities we find a cane belonging to William White, presented by Hon. John Reed, a dressing case belonging to William White.—The cradle in which Peregrine was rocked is in the possession of Jacob Noice, of Abington, whose wife, Olive, is the daughter of Reliance Fuller, the daughter of Isaac Fuller, of Marlborough, who was a son of Samuel Fuller, the first minister of that place, the son of Dr. Samuel Fuller, who arrived in the May Flower. When Peregrine White was 28 years of age he planted an apple tree. Dr. Holmes says, in noticing a death which occurred in 1704, in the 84th year of his age, that twenty years afterwards a gentleman sent several large apples to President Stiles.

JOHN ALDEN.

Son of John and Hannah Alden was the subject of the following memoir, which was published in the Christian Watchman of April 14, 1821, as follows : "In Middleborough, the venerable John Alden, in the 103d year of his age. His great grandfather, whose name he bore, as did also his grandfather and father, was one of the first settlers of New England, being one of the number who accompanied the Rev. Mr. Roberson from Europe to America. in 1620, and is said to have been the first to step upon the Plymouth Rock. His grandmother was the daughter of Peregrine White, who was the first male child born in New England. Mr. Alden was married young, and his first wife, by whom he had five children, died at the age of 27. By his second and last wife he had fourteen children. His descendants are 19 children, 62 grandchildren, 134 great-grand children, 7 of the fifth generation. Of this number 47 we believe are deceased, and 127 are now living.

EDWARD WINSLOW, Governor of Plymouth Colony, was born in 1594, in Worcestershire, and came to this country with the first settlers of New England, in 1620. Possessing great activity and resolution, he was eminently useful. He went repeatedly to England as an agent for the Colony. In 1633 he was chosen Governor in the place of Mr. Bradford, and again in 1636 and 1644. He exerted his influence in England to form the society for propagating the Gospel among the Indians, which was incorporated in 1649. In 1643 he was appointed a Commissioner of the United Colonies, and 1655 a Commissioner to superintend the expedition against the Spaniards, in the West Indies, and died near Jamaica, May 8, 1655, in the sixty-first year of his age. He was the first man married in New England, and on the 12th of May married Mrs. Susana White, the mother of the first English child born here.

GRAFTON, Mass., March, 1875.

J. B. WHITE, EAST KILLINGLY, CONN.:

Your letter to Mr. J. B. White, of this town, has been by him committed to my care for an answer, as I belong to the same family of Whites with him, his father and my father being brothers, and his mother and my mother being sisters. I suppose we are descended from the same original stock, though widely scattered, and may be somewhat difficult to trace the connection. The first positive record of my ancestors in my possession is that of my great grandfather, whom I find located in Douglas, Mass. — His name was Peter White, and his wife's name was Hepsibah. Their children were as follows: David White, born in Douglas, June 17, 1758; John White, born June 19, 1760; Stephen White, born March 27, 1763; Abigail White, born Nov. 27, 1765; Grant White, born June 22, 1767. — What became of Stephen, Abigail and Grant White I cannot tell. John White settled in Boylston, Mass., and I understand had quite a family. — One of his sons, a Methodist minister, preached on the circuit where my father lived, in Vermont, one year in the days of my childhood, and used to be at my father's occasionally. I have but little remembrance of him, and no knowledge of the rest of his father's family, except that he had one brother who was also a Methodist preacher.

David White, who was my grandfather, married Hulda Marsh, daughter of Ebenezer and Achsah Marsh, and was born Feb. 13, 1763. They were married April 19, 1781, and lived and died in Douglas. Their family was as follows: Elizabeth, their daughter, born Dec. 22, 1781; Reuben, born July 7, 1784; Peter, born June 5, 1786; David, born May 17, 1789; Hulda, born Oct. 6, 1791; Hepsibath, born Oct. 18, 1793; Alvah, born July 8, 1798; Sybil, born May 21, 1800. Elizabeth married when quite young, against the will of her parents, to a man by the name of Coy. They went to what was then considered the "far West," somewhere in the State of New York, after which I have no knowledge of her.

Reuben was my father. He married Anna Wheeler, daughter of James and Vashti Wheeler, of Grafton, Mass., in September, 1809. In February, 1810, they removed to the town of Orange, in the County of Orange, where my father had purchased a tract of "wild land" with a small clearing and log hut upon it. I was their first child, and was born January 4, 1811, consequently was 64 years old last January. My father and mother had seven children—three sons and four daughters. Two of the sons died in infancy, I being the only one who lived to manhood. My sisters all lived to marry, and have families, all of whom live in Vermont, except two of my nieces, who live in Massachusetts. Three of my sisters are dead, as also are my father and mother. In March, 1832, I came to Grafton and learned the boot-and-shoemaker's trade, at which I worked until the Spring of 1861. My health then failed so that I was obliged to leave the shop. I at that time held the office of Town Clerk in this town, and the breaking-out of the Rebellion gave me all the office work I could do. I still hold that office, and am now serving my twenty-first year in it.

Peter White lived in Douglas, when I first came to Massachusetts, but soon after removed to Ashford, Mass., since which I have heard but little from him. I never visited him but once. He was then living with his second wife. Of his family I can give no account.

David White, the father of J. B. White, to whom your letter was addressed, married Pharthenia Wheeler, a sister of my mother. They had five sons, who lived to manhood, and are living now. Their names and occupations are as follows: Elias T. White, lives in Morristown, N. J. He was Principal of the Academy there for quite a number of years. He became tired of teaching, bought a small farm, and is now engaged in agriculture and horticulture. He is married, but has no children.

John B. White lives in Grafton, doing heavy express business from Grafton to Worcester and back. Supplies the people here with coal, and is a useful and respected man. David White is an apothecary here,—keeps a store of drugs, medicines, and fancy goods, is married, and has one daughter who is a music teacher. Andrew H. White works at the boot and shoe business; has three children. Clarendon Augustus White is a salesman in

A. T. Stewart's store, New York. Uncle David White died Aug. 16, 1859. Parthenia White, his wife, died Sept. 11, 1828, at my father's, in Vermont.

Huldah White, the next in order of my grandfather's family, married a man by the name of Richmond White, who also claimed to be a descendant from Peregrine White, but through what branch of his family he came, I cannot tell. They lived for a long time in Thompson, Conn., afterwards removed to Douglas, Mass., and took care of her father and mother while they lived. My grandfather, David White, died Aug. 12, 1844, and my grandmother died Jan. 8, 1845. Huldah White, wife of Richmond White, died Aug. 17, 1860. Richmond White and wife had four children, Salome, Huldah, Parthenia and Reuben. Salome married a Methodist preacher, had one child, and her husband died. His name was Smith. She afterwards married a man by the name of Day, who lived in Sutton. He was too close-fisted to provide a decent living for her or himself, either. She procured a divorce with alimony, he being a man of some property. Huldah married a man by the name of Buxton; they lived in Douglas for a while, and I think removed to some part of Rhode Island. I do not know where they now are. Reuben and Parthenia lived in Whitinsville, Mass., the last I knew of them.

Hepsibath White married Ephraim H. Wheeler, of Grafton, a brother of my mother. They had five children: two sons and three daughters. One son, Samuel A. Wheeler, now lives in Westboro, Mass. The other is dead. One daughter, Adeline, married a man by the name of Lobdell, and now lives in Wilmington, Del. The other daughter now living is the wife of Jeremiah Robinson, of Grafton.

Alvah White married, and lived with his father and mother a number of years. He was not remarkably energetic or enterprising. He died several years since, and I do not know what became of his family. His oldest child was Polly, and there was a Danford and a Pandridge, and I think some others. Sybil I think died in infancy.

I have thus given you a brief sketch or outline of our family. Peregrine White, the first English child born within the limits of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, settled in Marshfield, Mass., where he held some town offices, as appears by the records of the colony.

Peter White, the first who settled in Douglas, I think must have been a great-grandson of his, but I cannot trace the lineage. Several years since, a gentleman from Boston, who was engaged in antiquarian research, came to Grafton to examine our records. He enquired of me what branch of the family I belonged to. I told him where my ancestors lived, as far back as I had knowledge. He told me that he could give me a direct line of descent from Peregrine to Peter White, who settled in Douglas, but did not have it with him then; he promised to bring it with him when he came again, but has never been.

As you are tracing out your ancestors, I shall be pleased to receive from you such information as you can impart respecting them. Perhaps we can find where the branches connect to the same tree.

Yours Respectfully, JAMES W. WHITE.

WORCESTER, MASS., Aug. 15, 1874.

JOHN B. WHITE, ESQ: DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 13th is received, and I have examined the early records of births in this city, but do not find the names of your ancestors. I find two families recorded here of the name of White, which I have copied and send you:—

The children of Ebenezer and Hannah White:—Ann, born Feb. 1, 1769; Mary, born April 14, 1770; Samuel, born Nov. 12, 1772; Joseph, born March 21, 1774; John Lowry, born March 9, 1777.

The children of Nathan and Eunice White:—Sally, born Dec. 2, 1779, at Uxbridge; Eunice, born Feb. 15, 1782, at Uxbridge; Peter, born March 9, 1784, at Worcester; Peter, born March 9, 1784, at Worcester; Nancy, born May 22, 1786, at Worcester; Benjamin, born May 9, 1788, at Worcester; Lois, born June 2, 1790, at Worcester; Chloe, born May 26, 1792, at Worcester; Luther, born Aug. 11, 1794, at Worcester; Nathan, born Jan. 11, 1797, at Worcester; Bezaleel, born July 5, 1799, at Worcester; Leonard, born March 29, 1805.

Yours Truly,

SAMUEL SMITH, City Clerk.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

EAST KILLINGLY, May 16, 1878.

I wish here to return my sincere thanks to Thomas White, of Marlboro, N. H., for the information he gave me concerning William White, who came over in the May Flower, in 1620, my English ancestor.

Should this publication have its desired effect in awakening further interest, the efforts of the writer will not have been in vain. Such as it is, the volume is committed to the kind consideration of the family.

Yours, J. B. WHITE.

B A L L A D .

Miles Standish in the May Flower came
Across the stormy wave,
And in that little band was none
More generous or brave.

Midst cold December's sleet and snow,
On Plymouth Rock they land;
Weak were their hands, but strong their hearts,
That pious Pilgrim band.

Oh, sad it was, in their poor huts,
To hear the storm-winds blow;
And terrible at midnight hour,
When yell'd the savage foe.

And when the savage, grim and dire,
His bloody work began,
For a champion brave, I have been told,
Miles Standish was the man.

But oh, his heart was made to bow,
With grief and pain full low.
For sickness on that Pilgrim band,
Now dealt a fearful blow.

In arms of death so fast they fell,
They scarce were buried;
And his dear wife, whose name was Rose,
Was laid among the dead.

His sorrow was not loud, but deep,
For her he did bemoan,
And such keen anguish wrung his heart,
He could not live alone.

Then to John Alden he did speak,
John Alden was his friend,
And said, "Friend John, unto my wish,
I pray thee now attend.

My heart is sad, tis very sad,
 My poor wife Rose is gone,
 And in this wild and savage land,
 I cannot live alone.

To Mr. William Mullins, then,
 I wish you would repair,
 And see if he will give leave,
 To wed his daughter fair."

Priscilla was this daughter's name :
 Comely and fair was she,
 And kind of heart, she was withal,
 As any maid could be.

John Alden, to oblige his friend,
 Straightway to Mullins went.
 And told his errand like a man,
 And asked for his consent.

Now Mr. Mullins was a sire,
 Quite rational and kind,
 And such consent would never give,
 Against his daughter's mind.

He told John Alden if his child
 Should be inclined that way,
 And Captain Standish was her choice,
 He had no more to say.

He then called in his daughter dear,
 And straightway did retire,
 That she might with more freedom speak,
 In absence of her sire.

John Alden had a bright blue eye,
 And was a handsome man,
 And when he spoke, a pleasant look
 O'er all his features ran.

He rose, and in a courteous way,
 His errand did declare,

And said "fair maid, what word shal I
To Captain Standish bear?"

Warm blushes glowed upon the cheeks
Of that fair maiden then ;
At first she turned away her eyes,
Then looked at John again.

And then, with downcast, modest mein,
She said with trembling tone,
"Now, prithee, John, why dost thou not Speak for thyself alone?"

Deep red then grew John Alden's face,
He bade the maid good bye ;
And well she read, before he went
The language of his eye.

No matter what the language said,
Which in that eye was rife,
In one short month Priscilla was
John Alden's loving wife.

The above includes all the births, marriages, and deaths, there not having been any families in town, for the past thirty years, by the name of White.

I find the following miscellaneous matter:

1724, Thomas White's ear mark is a slitt in the top of the right ear.

Ebenezer White's ear mark is a slitt in the top of the right ear, and a notch cut in the under side of the same ear. Entered June 7, 1726.

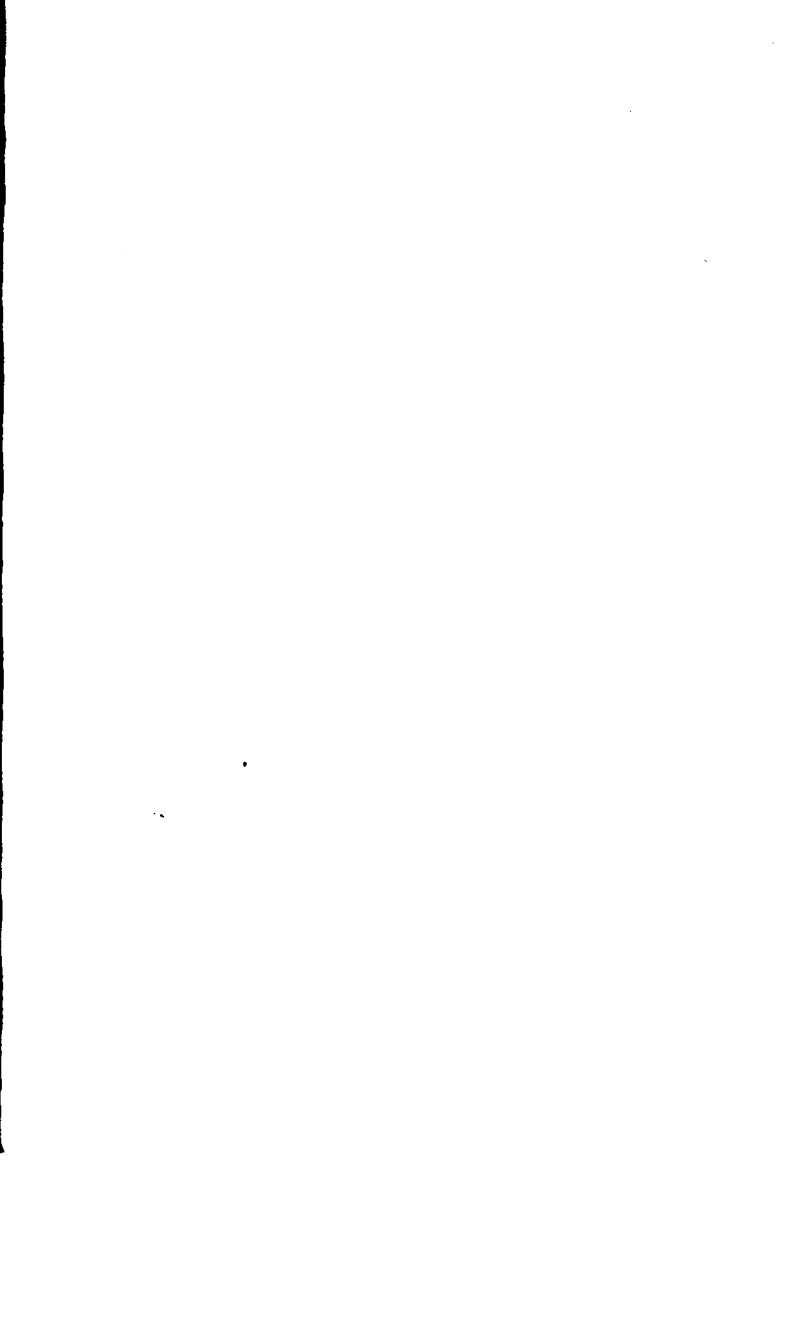

Benjamin White's ear mark is a swallow's tail cut of the top of the eft ear, and a slitt cut right in the under side of the same ear. November, 18, 1729.

John White, Jr.'s, ear mark is a mortis in the right ear, thus [
-Entered — 13, 1746.

I find that Joseph White, who was one of the first settlers here, came from Weymouth, Mass. He was selectman, constable, and on committees, and they were large land holders.

Yours respectfully,

DAVID ADAMS.
